

We did...

We are always trying to find ways to share with you what your child has been learning at school, but are also mindful of increasing workload for our very hardworking staff team.

At the start of each term we send out a curriculum map, which shows you the curriculum your child will be learning for the term ahead. This is done half termly in Reception. These maps contain a wealth of information and can also be found on our website, alongside curriculum overviews for each subject in the curriculum pages.

Speaking of our website, it is full of information, which is updated regularly, for you to keep up to date with what is happening in school. Places to look:

-  School calendar – for what is coming up
-  Latest news – updated every Thursday and throughout the week, showcasing key events and activities
-  Class pages – updated regularly with information and photographs
-  Newsletters – these come out every Thursday via email and text but are also on our website so you can look back over them

As part of our weekly newsletter, we include 'Class News' and information about what has taken place in school. Following your feedback, we have also added a 'this week in school' section, where staff are uploading photos each week!

We also hold parents' evenings in both autumn and spring term, and shortly you will receive your child's end of year school report, which we hope you find informative.

As mentioned above, the website has class pages. We plan to update the look of these and would be interested to know what sort of things you'd like on them.

➤ Next: Parent View – this will come out to you next half term!
